Question:

The Secretary for Education mentioned at the Education session of the Special Meeting of the Legislative Council's Finance Committee that Secondary School Graduates proceeding to overseas studies considered a number of matters, including the international standard of the subjects taught at overseas institutions. In this connection, please provide this Committee with the data regarding the degree of internationalisation of Mainland institutions as compared with the Hong Kong institutions (if available).

(Meeting Discussion Time: 9:36 am on 8 April 2016)

Asked by: Dr Hon Kenneth CHAN Ka-lok

Reply:

The Government does not maintain statistics comparing the internationalisation of the institutions in the Mainland and Hong Kong. Indeed, we are not aware of any standard definition for internationalisation among different places or any standard yardstick for measuring the degree of internationalisation of different institutions.

That said, according to our understanding, both the Mainland authorities and institutions attach importance to promoting internationalisation of the higher education sector in the Mainland. Majority of the Mainland institutions have set clear strategy and established the required structure and system to promote internationalisation. Besides, different kinds of scholarships are offered by the Mainland authorities and individual institutions to encourage international students to pursue studies in the Mainland. In 2015, there are about 398 000 international students from more than 200 countries and regions studying in over 800 higher education institutions, research institutes and other educational organisations in the Mainland, representing an increase of 5.5% over the number of international students in 2014.

Question:

- 1) Pursuant to reply nos. EDB150 and EDB152, please provide further information to this Committee on the profile of students with SEN in mainstream primary and secondary schools in the territory by the severity of their conditions (i.e. Tier-1, Tier-2 and Tier-3).
- 2) Based on the data, the number of students with SEN has increased by 124% between 2008 and 2016 while the EDB's expenditure on integrated education has only been increased by 21%. Please explain the reasons for such a big shortfall and the measures taken by the EDB to address the rise in the number of students with SEN.

All schools are requested to adopt the Whole School Approach to support students with special educational needs (SEN) through a 3-Tier Intervention Model, taking into account their support needs. Tier-1 support refers to helping students with mild or transient learning difficulties through the use of basic resources and quality teaching in regular classrooms. Tier-2 support refers to "add on" intervention, such as small group learning and pull-out programmes, etc., for students with persistent learning difficulties. Tier-3 support refers to intensive individualised support for students with severe learning difficulties under which schools are required to draw up an individual education plan (IEP) for each of these students. Irrespective of the tier of support required by the students with SEN and whether the student may require an IEP, schools are required to record the support and adaptations offered to the students as well as their progress for regular review to facilitate adjustment, where appropriate, of the level of support required. As such, the level of support of students with SEN may be adjusted upward or downward, and the need for providing an IEP may change, from time to time according to the performance and prevailing support needs of the students. Of the additional resources provided for public sector schools having students with SEN, the Learning Support Grant (LSG) is calculated according to the number of students with SEN requiring tier-2 or tier-3 support. Based on the LSG data, the distribution of public sector mainstream primary and secondary schools eligible for LSG by range of number of students with SEN requiring tier-2 and tier-3 support is set out in Appendix 1 and Appendix 2 respectively.

To help schools cater for students with SEN, the Education Bureau (EDB) has been providing public sector primary and secondary schools with additional resources on top of the regular subvention for all mainstream schools. Additional resources include LSG, Enhanced Speech Therapy Grant (ESTG), additional teachers and funding under the Integrated Education Programme and Intensive Remedial Teaching Programme, additional teachers to cater for low academic achievers, etc. Some of these resources, such as the LSG, is calculated on the basis of the number of students with SEN and the tier of support the students require.

Other support services, such as professional support and teacher training, are provided to schools as a whole to help them cater for their students with SEN. In fact, the estimated additional expenditures on support and services provided for public sector primary and secondary schools in catering for students with SEN in the 2015/16 school year is $1,315 million which represents an increase by around 53% as compared to the expenditure of $859 million in the 2008/09 school year. Schools should pool and deploy their resources flexibly and holistically to render appropriate support services to students with SEN based on their needs.

Apart from the above additional support, students with SEN also benefit from the various enhancement measures since 2008 as set out below.

- a) Introducing the teacher professional development framework on IE to enhance teachers' professional capacity in catering for students with SEN from the 2007/08 school year.
- b) Providing the LSG for secondary schools to support students with SEN from the 2008/09 school year and raising the ceiling of the LSG provided for each primary and secondary schools to $1 million.
- c) Extending of the provision of School-based Educational Psychology Service (SBEPS) from the 2008/09 school year with the target of covering all public sector primary and secondary schools by the 2016/17 school year.
- d) Regularizing the Special Schools cum Resource Centres and Resource Schools on Whole School Approach from the 2009/10 school year.
- e) Regularizing the ESTG from the 2009/10 school year.
- f) Providing students with hearing impairment with two hearing aids if necessary from the 2010/11 school year and shortening the replacement period for hearing aids from 5 years to 3 years from the 2014/15 school year; improving the Enhanced Support Service for Hearing Impaired Students Attending Ordinary Schools from the 2012/13 school year.
- g) Launching a 5-year project on the Tiered Intervention Model on the Teaching of Chinese Language in Primary Schools from the 2011/12 school year to support students with specific learning difficulties in reading and writing.
- h) Launching the Pilot Project on Enhancement of Support Services for Students with Autism Spectrum Disorders from the 2011/12 to 2013/14 school years, and extending the project from the 2014/15 to 2016/17 school years.
- i) Publishing the Development of Executive Skills Resource Package in the 2009/10 school year and the Coaching Programme on Executive Skills to support students with Attention Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder in the 2013/14 school year.
- j) Raising the ceiling of the LSG from $1 million to $1.5 million for each school per annum from the 2013/14 school year.
- k) Increasing the grant rates of the LSG by 30% in the 2014/15 school year.
- l) Adjusting the grant rates and ceiling of the LSG annually according to the changes in the Composite Consumer Price Index from the 2015/16 school year.
- m) Setting up Special Schools cum Resource Centres (School for Social Development) in the 2015/16 school year to provide support for their leavers in their first year of returning to mainstream schools and for the mainstream schools concerned to facilitate the smooth integration of these students into the school life.

Besides, EDB will further enhance the SBEPS by progressively improving the ratio of educational psychologist to school to 1:4 for public sector primary and secondary schools with a large number of students with SEN from the 2016/17 school year. We will keep in view the implementation of integrated education and continue to seek views from different stakeholders on an on-going basis with a view to ameliorating the implementation of various measures and making improvements where necessary and feasible.

Question:

Regarding the reply given by the Education Bureau in Reply Serial No. EDB166, please provide this Committee of the names of the schools which participated in Mainland exchange programmes arranged or commissioned by the Education Bureau from 2013/14 to 2015/16.

(Meeting Discussion Time: 10:12 am on 8 April 2016)

Asked by: Dr Hon Helena WONG Pik-wan

Reply:

Since Mainland exchange programmes (MEPs) conducted by the Education Bureau (EDB) are provided mainly through commissioned programmes and subsidy schemes for school-based activities, schools may enroll in or organise different number and scale of Mainland exchange activities according to their own schedules and needs of students. EDB does not have a readily available list of schools having participated in various MEPs because for a majority of EDB-commissioned MEPs, schools enroll in the programmes offered by the service providers direct. At the system level, EDB no longer requires individual schools to submit information regarding their participation in MEPs since October 2012 due to public concern about such requirement. Given the recognised positive feedback on EDB's policy objective to encourage more students to join Mainland exchange activities, EDB will continue to step up the provision of MEPs to meet the learning and developmental needs of students. Based on payment record, schools joined MEPs for about 930 and 1 310 times in the 2013/14 and 2014/15 school years respectively. The figure for the 2015/16 school year will be available by the end of the school year.

Question:

In relation to the Reply Serial No. EDB030 concerning the enhancement of information technology (IT) infrastructure in schools, will the Administration disburse another one-off grant to schools for the enhancement of IT infrastructure and set a standard for IT equipment in schools, e.g. every student in schools using e-textbooks should be provided with a mobile computing device?

Asked by: Hon WONG Kwok-hing

Reply:

Under the Fourth Strategy on Information Technology in Education (ITE4), we have been providing one-off grant of $100,000 and extra recurrent grant of $70,000 per school on average for some 900 public sector schools by phases from 2015/16 school year for acquisition of mobile computing devices and subscription of WiFi services respectively. In addition, we have been providing all public sector schools with an annual recurrent Composite Information Technology Grant at amounts ranging from $189,686 to $652,397, depending on the school type and the number of classes to meet the diversified needs of schools on e-learning. With the above provision and as the ITE4 has only been launched in the current school year, we have no plan at this stage to further enhance the funding support for schools, while we will monitor the progress of implementation on an on-going basis.

According to the principle of school-based management, schools are at liberty to determine their pace and mode in the practice of e-learning in consultation with stakeholders to suit their own school circumstances.

Question:

Pursuant to Reply Serial No. EDB034, will the Administration increase the number of subsidised student places and self-financing undergraduate programmes under the initiative to subsidise students to pursue self-financing undergraduate programmes in designated professions? Also, will the Administration consider launching relevant subsidy scheme for higher diploma and associate degree programmes offered by self-financing institutions?

Asked by: Hon WONG Kwok-hing

Reply:

Starting from the 2015/16 academic year, the Government has launched the Study Subsidy Scheme for Designated Professions/ Sectors (SSSDP) to subsidise about 1 000 students per cohort to pursue designated full-time locally-accredited self-financing undergraduate programmes in selected disciplines to nurture talents to meet Hong Kong's social and economic needs. SSSDP is implemented on a pilot basis for three cohorts of students admitted from the 2015/16 to 2017/18 academic years.

We are reviewing the effectiveness of SSSDP by obtaining feedback from the first cohort of students admitted in the 2015/16 academic year, the participating institutions, other self-financing post-secondary education institutions, the Committee on Self-financing Post-secondary Education as well as the relevant bureaux/departments, in order to further improve the operation of SSSDP and consider the way forward (including whether to extend the Scheme, its scope and number of subsidised places per cohort, etc.).

Question:

According to Reply Serial No. EDB240, will the Government provide further information on:

- (1) the changes, if any, on the provision and duties of the laboratory technicians as well as the practical periods; if yes, what is the difference between the old version and the new version; and the influence brought by the changes;
- (2) whether the Administration will make any arrangements to adjust the provision as it claims that the arrangements for freezing the provision of the laboratory technicians to schools will be extended to 31 August 2017, in a bid to provide a stable working environment to the laboratory technicians so that they will not need to worry about any possible manpower reduction each year?

Asked by: Hon WONG Kwok-hing

Reply:

- (1) Building on the previous consultation meetings, the Bureau will continue to communicate with the stakeholders on the updated duties and updated calculation for the provision of laboratory technicians in secondary schools. In this connection, the additional information required is not yet available.
- (2) It is expected that the updated duties of laboratory technician and the updated calculation for the provision of laboratory technicians will be announced in the coming school year. In updating the provision of laboratory technicians, apart from adopting the principle of appropriate use of public resources, the Bureau has been considering the maintenance of stability of the Laboratory Technician Grade and the provision of suitable manpower of laboratory technicians to support the development of science education.

Question:

With reference to Reply Serial No.EDB029, will the Government provide further information on the following:

(a) The recent incidents of student suicide have reflected that there is a need for the community to attach greater importance to the mental health of students. Will the Administration consider increasing the ratio of educational psychologist to school so that ultimately each school will be served by 1 educational psychologist?

(b) What measures will the Administration put in place to strengthen the support for teachers in dealing with the mental health of students? Will schools be provided with more grants so that teachers can take relevant courses on educational psychology and mental health and schools can employ substitute teachers accordingly?

Asked by: Hon WONG Kwok-hing

Reply:

(a) The Government has been making efforts to enhance school-based psychology service for schools. The School-based Educational Psychology Service (SBEPS) will cover all public sector primary and secondary schools in the 2016/17 school year. The Government will further enhance the SBEPS by progressively improving the ratio of educational psychologist (EP) to school to 1:4 for public sector schools with a large number of students with special educational needs from the 2016/17 school year. The Education Bureau (EDB) will continue to keep in view the service needs of schools as a whole as well as the supply of educational psychologists.

(b) To alert professionals and school personnel on students' emotional difficulties and risk for suicidal behaviours, the EDB provides an "eBook on Student Suicide for Schools: Early Detection, Intervention and Postvention" for reference and use by school personnel. EDB's School Administration Guide also includes a guideline entitled "How can schools help students with mental health problems?". The EDB has been providing teachers with structured training courses as well as co-organising with Hospital Authority (HA) seminars on different mental health topics, such as "Psychosis", "Depression" and "Anxiety Disorders" to enhance school personnel's identification, assessment and support for students with emotional difficulties.

In response to recent student suicide incidents, the EDB has put forward a number of immediate measures to strengthen the support for teachers in dealing with students with suicidal risk, including delivering region-based seminars for schools in order to enhance the awareness and skills of the school personnel and parents on suicide prevention and intervention, arranging school-based talks for teachers by the EPs of the EDB and school sponsoring bodies providing SBEPS, forming a special team with EPs and guidance personnel as members to, in coordination with the school-based educational psychology service, provide additional support to individual schools on a need basis as well as developing information kits for teachers, parents and students in order to facilitate their early identification of students with emotional difficulties and seeking of professional support.

At present, the EDB provides an annual recurrent cash grant known as the Teacher Relief Grant (TRG) to aided schools established with an incorporated management committee (IMC) for hiring supply teachers to meet their own needs. Schools may also use the Expanded Operating Expenses Block Grant (EOEBG) to top up the TRG whenever necessary.

Question:

Regarding parts (b) to (d) of Reply Serial No. EDB 127, that is

- (b) please provide the names, locations and vacancy period of the said 234 vacant school premises (with a breakdown by 18 districts);
- (c) which of these vacant school premises are managed by the Government (please provide names and locations) and which government department(s) is/are responsible for managing them?
- (d) please provide the number, names, locations, vacancy period and the original school sponsoring bodies of vacant school premises which have not been returned to the Education Bureau (with a breakdown by 18 districts);

no response had been given. Will the Education Bureau provide supplementary information? Besides, in the reply, the EDB stated that among these 234 vacant school premises, 105 were not being used, of which 29 were under the EDB. Have the 76 vacant school premises not being used which were not under the EDB been returned to the EDB and then be considered for new uses? If yes, when will these school premises be returned to the EDB? If the school sponsoring bodies have not taken the initiatives to return the school premises, is there any mechanism in place for the Administration to recover the school premises? The Administration also stated that a list of vacant school premises earmarked for educational use but suitable for short-term use would be circulated on a half year basis to relevant Bureaux/Departments with a view to identifying short-term use pending the deployment of such premises for the earmarked use so that the land resources can be gainfully used. I would like to know if the Administration has explored the possibility of releasing the list of vacant school premises suitable for short-term use to other organisations, for example, sports organisations and art groups for application.

Asked by: Hon MA Fung-kwok

Reply:

For the 234 vacant school premises (VSP) referred to in parts (b) to (d) of Question Serial No. 1589 (Reply Serial No. EDB 127), as stated in the Report No. 65 of the Director of Audit (Audit Report), as at 30 April 2015, 105 of these ex-school premises were not being used, 102 were being used and 27 have been or were going to be demolished for housing or other developments. Of those 105 premises that were not being used (i.e. vacant as at 30 April 2015), 29 were under EDB's purview. The present redeployment/earmarked/planned use of these 29 premises as at end-December 2015, including "return" of four of them to the Planning Department (PlanD) for consideration of suitable alternative use under the central clearing house mechanism, were provided in Reply Serial No. EDB127. The information provided on the ex-school premises in EDB replies in this exercise, including Reply Serial No. EDB127 and the current one, was compiled by making reference to our earlier replies and submissions to the hearings of the Public Accounts Committee on the above-mentioned Audit Report, in particular information of individual ex-school premises.

Among the 105 premises that were not being used as at 30 April 2015, 76 of them have been referred by EDB to PlanD for consideration of suitable alternative uses in accordance with the central clearing house mechanism. Information of these 76 premises is set out in the Table below:

Note 1: "School year in which the school ceased operation" refers to the year the school premises was ceased to be used by the original school on site.

Note 2: The site area is only a rough estimate provided by PlanD, Lands Department (LandsD) and Housing Department. Information on area of those school premises standing on public housing estates of the Hong Kong Housing Authority/ Housing Society refers to internal floor area of the premises and is marked with (#) in the table above

EDB does not have information on the current situation and eventual uses of the VSP that have been referred to PlanD under the central clearing house mechanism.

In respect of VSP on private land, we have worked out with Lands Department (LandsD) the improved mechanism as set out in the workflow in Appendices 33 and 34 of the Public Accounts Committee Report No. 65, including cases where the site is required to be recovered from the grantee when the school sponsoring body refuses to return it. We will enhance communication and cooperation with LandsD in dealing with such VSP. When a VSP is identified in future, we will take a more proactive approach to consult LandsD on the information relating to the land on which the VSP is located, including details about the type of land (e.g. whether the land is under a Private Treaty Grant), whether the land lease contains a land use restriction clause, a cessation of user clause, etc., which are important considerations for drawing up feasible follow-up actions to be taken.

For VSP which EDB considers are required for re-allocation for school or other educational uses but the school sponsoring body refuses to surrender the site, we will liaise with LandsD on how to recover possession of the land as far as practicable in accordance with the provisions of the relevant contracts (including land leases, tenancy agreements or service agreements). In all such cases, the Government must act in accordance with the contracts concerned. Besides, recovering possession of land by exercising the right conferred by the contract may not be the only way to make gainful use of the land. We will, in consultation with LandsD, review each case on its own merits.

It has all along been EDB's policy objective to put VSP into gainful use. To achieve this objective, when there is a vacant or to-be-vacated school premises, EDB will assess the VSP's suitability for educational use and consider whether the premises is needed to be re-allocated for school or other educational use. In this regard, EDB will circulate the list of earmarked VSP within EDB, on a half-yearly basis, for new/updated proposals on educational uses and/or short-term uses (where appropriate). Once EDB confirms that the VSP are no longer required by EDB for school or other educational uses, EDB would refer them to PlanD for consideration of suitable alternative uses in accordance with the central clearing house mechanism. For VSP earmarked for educational uses, we will continue to circulate, on a half-yearly basis, a list of those that are suitable for short-term use to relevant bureaux/departments (including the Home Affairs Bureau, Home Affairs Department, LandsD, PlanD and Social Welfare Department) with a view to identifying short-term use pending the deployment of such premises for the earmarked use so that the land resources can be gainfully used. The relevant bureaux/departments may propose suitable short-term uses for organisations under their policy purview as appropriate. In addition, LandsD has also advised that for VSP on sites returned to or recovered by LandsD, LandsD will make early arrangements to put them to suitable use. Where implementation of the identified long-term use will take time or where a long-term use is yet to be determined, LandsD will try to put the site together with the VSP to temporary use such as allocating it for use by a government bureau/department, renting it out on short-term tenancy upon identification of a suitable temporary use, or including the VSP into the list of vacant government sites of the relevant districts for application by interested parties for greening and community uses on a short-term basis.

Director of Bureau: Secretary for Education

Question:

Based on the key indicators of the “internationalisation strategies” of subsidised universities in Hong Kong, please list the data on “internationalisation” for all universities under “Expand the scope of the Mainland University Study Subsidy Scheme” and for the Huaqiao University in Fujian, which has enrolled graduates from Associate Degree programmes in Hong Kong starting from 2016, to demonstrate the policy vision of “A multi-cultural learning environment..... help ensure that our graduates are globally competitive” as mentioned in the Speaking Note of Mr Eddie Ng Hak-kim, Secretary for Education, at the Special Meeting of the Finance Committee on 8 April 2016 is consistent instead of a double standard.

Reply:

The Government does not maintain statistics showing the internationalisation of the institutions in the Mainland and Hong Kong. Indeed, we are not aware of any standard definition for internationalisation among different places or any standard yardstick for measuring the degree of internationalisation of different institutions.

As a matter of fact, pursuing internationalisation by local institutions and facilitating local students to pursue undergraduate study in the Mainland aim to achieve different policy objectives. Although both of them have been mentioned in the opening address of the Secretary for Education at the Special Meeting of the Finance Committee held on 8 April 2016, they should be read in context. The indicators for assessing the former should not be used to measure the effectiveness of the latter.

On pursuing internationalisation, the merits of a multi-cultural learning environment to local students were mentioned in the context of the proposal of injecting $1 billion into the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region Government Scholarship fund. To encourage more outstanding students from countries and regions along the “Belt and Road” to pursue studies in Hong Kong, the Chief Executive proposed in the 2016 Policy Address to inject $1 billion into the Scholarship Fund and use the investment income generated from the injection to increase the number of additional offers for the Hong Kong Scholarships for Belt and Road students to 100 by phases.

We believe that, more non-local students (including those from the “Belt and Road” regions) coming to Hong Kong to pursue university study will help internationalise and diversify the local higher education sector and hence enhance the competitiveness of our students and Hong Kong.

On facilitating local students to pursue undergraduate study in the Mainland, the objective of the Mainland University Study Subsidy Scheme (MUSSS) is to assist those students with financial needs to pursue undergraduate study in the Mainland. The MUSSS was one of the initiatives announced in the 2014 Policy

Address in a bid to provide school leavers with broader and more diversified articulation pathways both in and outside Hong Kong. Similarly, the two-year pilot scheme on the articulation of Hong Kong sub-degree graduates to top-up degree programmes offered by Huaqiao University in Fujian Province launched in March 2016 is intended to open up opportunities for Hong Kong sub-degree graduates to articulate and further their studies.

Question:

At present, the salaries and allowances of teaching staff in University Grants Committee-funded institutions are covered by financial provision under the above Head, i.e. they are paid out of the public coffers. In 2015-16, how many members of the Legislative Council (LegCo) are recipients of such subsidy? Please provide information concerning the subsidy received by these LegCo members in detail.

Asked by: Hon NG Leung-sing

Reply:

The bulk of the Government subvention to the University Grants Committee (UGC)-funded institutions is in the form of a block grant which provides for a one-line allocation of resources for a funding period (usually a triennium). Expenditure of institutions (including expenditure on salaries and benefits) is not solely covered by Government funding. Institutions have other sources of income including tuition fees and other fees, interest and investment income, donations and endowments, auxiliary services and other incomes. Apportionment of expenditure on salaries and benefits by funding source is not available.

Since the deregulation of salaries for the staff of UGC-funded institutions in 2003, institutions have the autonomy to deploy the block grant as well as funding from other sources to determine the remuneration of their staff, and are accountable for such decisions. The UGC does not collect information on the remuneration of individual staff of UGC-funded institutions, including those Legislative Council members who work for the institutions.
