Reporter: Mrs Lam, the Chief Executive today said he is willing to ... so would you yourself advise the Chief Executive to go to the square outside the Government Headquarters to talk to the students and show sincerity and rebuild ... ?

Chief Secretary for Administration: Well, we always want to communicate with everybody involved. I think right now the Chief Executive is really seriously thinking about in what way he could convey that sincerity to communicate with various stakeholders, including the student groups. If the communication should take place at my level, with my personal involvement, I am very ready to do that. As you all know, I am always an advocate for communication.
