

Write to Dr Dave

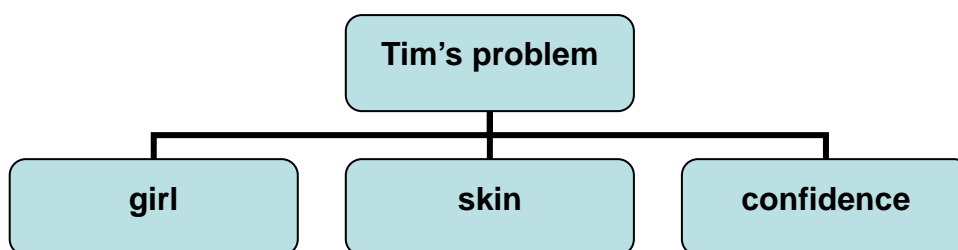

Name: _____

Class: ____

Scenario: Tim tells his classmate, Mario, about his problem and seeks his advice. Mario listens to Tim and suggests that he should write to an advice column to get a better reply.

Tim's description of the problem is quite long and not very clear. A good letter to an advice column seeking advice must be short and concise. Watch and listen carefully to the video clip and help Tim summarise his concerns and submit the letter to the advice columnist, Dr Dave, in the magazine 'Teen Scene'.

Listen to the recording and make notes. Remember to keep the most important points. Write between about 80 and 150 words.

3. Exchange your letter with your partner. Check that your partner's letter:

- has a greeting;
- clearly states why Tim is writing;
- gives details of his problem;
- explains what Tim has done to try to solve his problem and the results he has had;
- clearly asks for advice; and
- uses a pseudonym for Tim.

Give your partner the feedback.

Note: You do not need to correct the grammar, spelling or punctuation.
