The fairies of the jungle are doing a morning dance in a beautiful morning when Nobidy, the caveman, arrives. The fairies all freeze at once and observe Nobidy.

Nobidy: (enter, sad and angry) You You all go away, leave me alone..... (miserable)
(look up) Am I wrong to be born with this face? I'm strong but nobody likes me, why?
Whenever I go help them, they tell me to go away. They said that I damage more than I help. (He starts to cry louder and louder).

The fairies cannot tolerate Nobidy's loud noise and so spell him to freeze for a while.

Vicky: (Spell) Woosh! You are such a loud speaker!

Feeslie: Hee Hee! He sounds as loud as I do. Hee Hee!

Marie: Look at his face! He's so ugly!

Stani: Stop saying that! Be modest!

Ya Ya: (holding a yokulele, sing) He looks miserable. I think he needs help.

Ha Ha: I think so too. Did you hear what he said just now? He was bullied. He isn't happy.

Sammy: (Approach Nobidy) Oh, poor little....big boy!

Fairies: OK, (look at each other and made up their mind) shall we help him?

The fairies discussed and picked Vicky to give Nobidy a lesson.

Fairies: Leave it to you, Vicky. (Release the spell on Nobidy)

Vicky: (Pretend to cry) Woo~oo~oo.

Nobidy: (Go to Vicky) Excuse me, I am Nobidy, may I know your name?

Vicky: I am Vicky, nice to see you. Woo-oo-oo.

Nobidy: Well, excuse me again, may I know why you are crying here?

Vicky: They chased me out of the house.

Nobidy: Who and why?

Vicky: My parents, because I am, I am, Woo~oo~oo.

Nobidy: You are what?

Vicky: Because I am useless. They said that I should study and forget about singing and dancing, but I really like it, why can't I do both?

Nobody: Wow, you mean you can do so much at a time?

Vicky: Sure! My parents don't understand me. They just want me to study, study and STUDY!
So I decided to leave and go to Madame Salami.

Nobody: Madame Salami?

Vicky: Madame Salami will let me know my future!

Nobody: Future? Really? Can I go with you!

Vicky: Sure, let's go!

They are heading to Madame Salami. The fairies pick another fairy, Feeslie, to give Nobody one more lesson.

Feeslie: (Indian prayer) Please grant me courage and let me jump in the sea meeting my friends and I'll be totally relieved, Amen. (Leaping out)

Nobody: Hey, hold your horses. Don't be stupid!

Feeslie: (Look at Nobody) You leave me alone. You ugly man...boy!

Nobody: What is happening actually?

Feeslie: (furious) I ... I sell fish ...but I'm not selfish! I just give some dead fish to beggars or poor people, I want to help but my boss said that I did on purpose, he fired me, he said that's cheating. I'm NOT, I just don't want to waste food.

Nobody: Then...

Feeslie: I quit, I am honest but they don't trust me, I have nowhere to go, so...(leap out again)

Nobody: Don't be silly! (turn to Vicky) Shall we go together to Madame Salami?

Vicky : Why not? Come on!

(They are off on their way but Feeslie forgot her bag. Marie comes in)

Marie : (step on Feeslie's bag and look around) Oi, Oi Oi! Bag bag!
