Bosco: Let me call him.

Esther: There's no need. He is now at the hospital.

Miss Chan: Esther, where did you get that information?

Esther: We live in the same building. His daddy is diagnosed with Coronavirus. They were all taken away by the Health Department last night.

Miss Chan: O...so serious...You boys and girls remember not to go out and play!

Bosco: Oh my god! I'm so worried about him. Will he be okay?

Kitty: I think children will not easily die.

Esther: But...his granny is quite old.

Ryan: Lots of old people will die if they catch it!

Miss Chan: Okay, everyone, let's put aside this discussion and have our lesson now. Somebody forgot to hand in their homework.

Miss Chan: Kitty, ask somebody who KNOWS how to use a computer to help you!

Kitty: It's great!

Reporter: Great? Why? Aren't you happy because you don't need to go to school?

Kitty: Ya...I'm happy to a certain extent, but if the whole year remains the same, it's very boring.

Ryan: I like school suspension! My Mum and Dad are not at home. I can play TV games and watch television at home all the time!

Reporter: Haha...Kitty, you seem not like school suspension. Is it because you can't play games and watch TV at home all the time?

Kitty: Yes, and my mom doesn't allow me to go out and play.

Ryan: My grandma too!

Kitty: Your grandma often shows up when we are in zoom classes!

Ryan: Yes...

Reporter: Can you learn well in your zoom classes?

Kitty: Yes...at least I know how to change my name now.
