Aviation Training Hub

The “Aviation Training Hub,” operated by HKPC Academy and HKPAPA, is located at the HKPC Building in Kowloon Tong.

Equipped with a HK$ 2 million A320 Procedure Trainer, Single Engine Piston (SEP) trainers, and Hong Kong’s first SPL course delivered in English, Cantonese, and Mandarin.

Through partnerships with local airlines, the base provides Airbus and Boeing Level D simulator training, complemented by HKPAPA’s own fleet — including the first aircraft in Greater China fitted with English instruments — to offer a full training pathway from student to professional pilot.

Aviation Training Offering

- STEAM training and activity in Hong Kong and Zhuhai on topics:
 - Aviation
 - Low altitude economy
 - National Education and National Security Education
- Flight simulator installation in schools with training

AI-Driven Operational Benefits (Top 5)

This question allowed multiple selections, so total percentage exceeds 100%.

Top 5 Challenges in Enterprise AI Adoption

Talent and cybersecurity are the biggest barriers

-  Lack of AI talent and training
→ Talent supply can't keep up with tech development, becoming the top obstacle to AI implementation.
-  Data privacy and security concerns
→ Concerns remain over data handling, regulatory compliance, and risk management.
-  Difficulty integrating with existing systems
→ Incompatible technical architecture leads to complex deployment processes and increased costs.
-  Employee resistance or readiness gaps
→ Lack of internal digital culture and transformation awareness affects implementation.
-  High implementation cost
→ Especially burdensome for SMEs; resource limitations affect adoption willingness.
